

PLAYING AND COMMUNICATING

Develop your child's communication skills while having fun!

WHAT IS PLAYING AND COMMUNICATING?

Playing and Communicating is individual therapy focusing on developing communication skills through using your child's strengths and interests. Sessions have a strong focus on parent involvement to help continue your child's learning outside of therapy.

WHAT CAN PLAYING AND COMMUNICATING OFFER?

- One to one sessions with a Registered Psychologist (ABA)/Board Certified Behaviour Analyst
- Regular progress and goal reviews
- Flexibility to suit family/whanau needs (number and length of session, location, and time)

PLAYING AND COMMUNICATING SUPPORTS:

- Encouraging the development of communication through play
- Communication using speech, PECS, other visuals or Makaton
- Promotes use of communication skills at home through in-home sessions and parent training
