Leaving a gift in your Will to IHC

A gift of a percentage of your estate will help IHC to make a real difference. A fixed sum is also appreciated. These are effective ways for you to give to the cause that you feel is important, after you have provided for family and loved ones.

- Gifting a percentage of your estate, once you have provided for family and loved ones, maintains the value of your gift.
- Leaving a fixed sum, or residue of the estate to IHC.

Some important wording

Below are some suggested words you can give to your solicitor when making a Bequest to IHC in your Will:

'I give, IHC New Zealand Incorporated for its general purposes,' either:

- ____% of my estate, or
- The residue of my estate, or

- Other _____

Your lasting gift to IHC

Celebrate your life by leaving a Bequest in your Will to people with intellectual disabilities

Remembering IHC in your Will

Making a Will ensures that your estate is distributed according to your wishes. Of course your family and loved ones need to be considered first, but we'd love it if you'd think about also leaving a gift to IHC for people with intellectual disabilities.

Giving hope to future generations

IHC is the leading provider of advocacy and support to all New Zealanders with intellectual disabilities. You can help us continue to meet this need, by including IHC in your Will.

Your help means that future generations will be supported to live satisfying lives.

Leave a gift to IHC in your Will

Preparing for future services and advocacy for people with intellectual disabilities is a key part of our planning. Without IHC, who will be there to advocate for, and support people with intellectual disabilities? The support we receive through Bequests and other donations continues to play a major role in making our vital work possible.

Celebrate your life

Long-time IHC supporter Barbara Rocco intends to continue to support IHC, even after she has gone. She believes leaving a gift to IHC in her Will is the perfect way to do this. "It feels like it is a celebration of my life."

Preparing your Will

If you do not have a Will, we recommend you see a solicitor. You will receive professional advice and can be sure that your wishes will be followed.

If you have already made a Will, but would like to leave a gift to IHC, you can ask your solicitor to make a simple addition to your Will (see over page for some suggested wording).
